

NEIMUN - 2017

NEIMUN stands for North East India International Model United Nation. It is a Simulated United Nation Conference basically meant for students to build their relationship skill, public speaking skill, and mediation and negotiation skills. Ten students from the ICFAI University Sikkim participated in NEIMUN 2017. The theme was Youth, Peace and Security. NEIMUN 2017 was held at Dimapur Nagaland. The main objective of NEIMUN was to help a student build up his/her Negotiation skills and to bring out the best delegates within them. All the participants were delegated each country to represent. ICFAI University, Sikkim participated in two General Assembly Committees, that is General Assembly two and General Assembly four out of four General Assembly Committees.

Day one started with the introduction by Mr Gedi, representative of United Nation. He talked about what United Nations works for and how it works. He gave us the outlook on the procedure of how United Nations Resolutions are passed.

Day 2 was the training session on how resolution should be written and passed. Our trainer Mr. Gedi taught us that before passing any resolution there must be an issue and on that issue there will be public speaking, debate, negotiation and finally consensus.

We learned that consensus played a vital role in passing of resolution as eighty percent of United Nation resolutions were passed on the basis of consensus.

All the delegates from different General Assembly Committees gathered in one room where the final resolution was passed on the basis of consensus. The ICFAI University, Sikkim delegates won two best diplomatic awards and a certificate of appreciation to the chairperson who was one of the delegates from the University.
